FedEx is a global leader in the transportation and technology industries.

But like many innovative companies, we started out as an idea championed by a determined person.

In 1965, Yale University undergraduate Frederick W. Smith wrote a term paper where he laid out the logistical challenges facing pioneering firms in the information technology industry. Most airfreight shippers relied on passenger route systems, but those didn't make economic sense for urgent shipments, Smith wrote.

He proposed a system specifically designed to accommodate time-sensitive shipments such as medicine, computer parts, and electronics. Smith's professor apparently didn't see the revolutionary implications of his thesis, and the paper received just an average grade.

After serving in the military, Smith pursued the idea he came up with while at Yale. He eventually established Federal Express with Memphis, Tennessee as the headquarters. Memphis was chosen because of its central location within the U.S.

Federal Express officially began operations on April 17, 1973, with 389 team members. That night, 14 small aircraft took off from Memphis and delivered 186 packages to 25 U.S. cities.

FedEx has grown tremendously since its first night of operations in 1973. Over the years, the name was officially changed to FedEx, and several acquisitions enabled the company to grow globally. Now, our networks reach more than 220 countries and territories, linking more than 99 percent of the world's GDP (Gross Domestic Product) with an average daily package volume of more than 16 million.

In addition to overnight package delivery, some of the other services FedEx offers include:

- e-commerce solutions
- customs and international trade assistance
- office supply retail and printing
- temperature-controlled transportation and shipping

FedEx has more than 500,000 team members all over the world – they are pilots, package handlers, couriers, truck drivers and others who handle the shipments. We have computer technicians, data analysts, customer service agents, salespeople, advertising, marketing and communications professionals, legal experts and we even have our own meteorologists to monitor real-time weather conditions all over the world.

All of our team members work together to connect people and possibilities.

Peyton Manning Children's Hospital at St.Vincent

In order to tell you about the Peyton Manning Children's Hospital at St.Vincent, we need to first teach you about Saint Vincent de Paul and how the hospital came to exist. In Paris, France Saint Vincent de Paul founded the "Daughters of Charity" in 1617 to care for poor people in hospitals and to supply food and other necessities to the poor. The Daughters of Charity group was the first to nurse the poor in their homes, to care for the mentally ill and to visit patients after hospital discharge. The Daughters also built orphanages, started soup kitchens, provided hostels for beggars and advocated for war relief.

More than 300 years after their founding, there are more than 38,000 Daughters of Charity in 75 regions around the world. Our hospital is a member of Ascension Health, the nation's largest not-for-profit and Catholic Healthcare System. St.Vincent Health is Indiana's largest healthcare employer, with 17 health ministries serving 45 counties in central Indiana. The St.Vincent Hospital in Indianapolis was founded in 1881 by the Daughters of Charity and the St.Vincent Children's Hospital opened in 2003.

Peyton Manning Children's Hospital at St.Vincent was founded on delivering family-centered care for all pediatric patients throughout Indiana. We want all kids to really develop good habits like eating healthy foods, exercising, having good mental health and taking care of their bodies. The children's hospital has more than 300 pediatric specialists, 46 inpatient beds, 15 beds in the Pediatric Intensive Care Unit and 17 private rooms in the Hilbert Pediatric Emergency Department. All of these pediatric specialists, doctors, nurses, physical therapists, respiratory therapists, social workers, dieticians and many other clinical staff at the children's hospital provide the highest quality of care in emergency medicine, cancer and blood diseases, general surgery, cardiology, orthopedics, pulmonology, otolaryngology, rehabilitation and endocrinology.

Today we are very proud to provide an extraordinary experience of holistic physical, emotional and spiritual care for children, which put the child and family as the focus of the health care team.
